A photograph of a bathroom vanity from the Luxor collection. The vanity features light blue-grey cabinets with a classic shaker-style design, including recessed panels and round brass knobs. The countertop is made of white marble with grey veining. A brass faucet is mounted on the left side of the counter. The backsplash is composed of white marble tiles in a herringbone pattern. Two round mirrors with brass frames are mounted on the wall, each accompanied by a brass sconce with a white candle. A vase of white hydrangeas and a bar of soap in a wooden dish are on the counter. The floor is made of light-colored wood-look planks.
